NEWS IN THE VICINAGE.

Capt. Wm. Todd, 75, and Miles Quisenberry, 76, died in Madison.

The Bank of Perryville has declared a 3 per cent. dividend and carried 3 per cent. to surplus.

Powell Carroll killed Robert Nelson with a rock on Greasy Creek in Bell county after passing a few hot words with him.

Miss Laura V. Colson, a niece of the congressman, has been appointed postmaster of Middlesboro. B. F. Whitman gets the office at Science Hill.

Judge W. L. Brown, of the London court, follows the precedent of another Kentucky judge and opens his court with prayer.

Lieut. John Gibson, navigator of the Boston, one of Admiral Dewey's ships, was born in Clay county, Ky., 42 years ago and was appointed by Col. Matt Adams.

The State Convention of Sons of Veterans met in Louisville last week and elected E. H. Hansford, of the Somerset Paragon, Commander, which is a very high compliment.

Lon Bowen, Lee Seacree and John Jones engaged in a fight at Lawrenceburg. Bowen's skull was fractured by Jones. John Meton, peacemaker, lost an ear and received a bad scalp wound.

The Lucas livery stable at Manchester, belonging to Mrs. Amanda Lucas, was totally destroyed by fire last week. A quantity of feed, one horse and three or four buggies were burned.—London Kentuckian.

Judge Barr reduced the bail of Banker McKnight from $14,000 to $12,000, pending his appeal from a seven years' sentence for bank wrecking. Mr. Nick McDowell, of Danville, went on his bond.

At Lawrenceburg, the Opera House, the Klondike Hotel, postoffice, barber shop and Miller's confectionery were burned, loss $70,000. The Lexington fire company was wired for, but the flames were extinguished before it could leave home.

Sixteen Negroes and six whites, "Over the Rhine" residents of Middlesboro, were unmercifully whipped by a band of 10 whitecappers. The victims were marched at pistol point to the outskirts of town where they were bound and flogged.

Mrs. John Taylor, of Mercer, was fatally shot by her nine-year-old son. Mr. Taylor had cleaned a revolver, and handed it to the child to put in a drawer, when the little fellow pulled the trigger, discharging it, the ball entering his mother's forehead and coming out in the top of her head.

The Harrodsburg Sayings is waltzing on its aural, because the Rev. W. O. Goodloe denounced it in a sermon at the Christian church and added that it was unfit to come into the houses of decent people. The paper had published as an advertisement the anti-local option men's argument against the adoption of the law and that was the point of its offending. The preacher further said that the paper had "sold out to the saloon men." This latter statement, Editor Marrison denounces "as a malicious falsehood, on a par with the uncalculated libel he uttered, some time since, against our boys and young men, characterizing them, almost without exception, as dram-drinkers and drunkards, but was compelled to retract the untruth in the face of the most summary evidence to the contrary." The election was held last Tuesday and local option was defeated by 64.

The recent wet weather was hard on the citizen soldiers who had just gone into camp; but it had its uses as part of the discipline of a soldier's life. It may have been intended as a foretaste of the rainy season in Cuba.

M. Elisha Berry, of this place, says he never had any relief from rheumatism as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He was bothered greatly with shooting pains from hip to knee until he used this liniment which affords prompt relief.—B. F. Baker, Druggist, St. Paris, Ohio. LANCASTER.

Our citizens propose to charter a train and go to Lexington to see Capt. Duncan's company before they are ordered South.

Messrs. J. W. Miller, W. B. Mason and George Palmer went as delegates from this county to the State Commercial Convention at Louisville.

County Clerk J. M. Duncan knew Admiral Sampson while at the naval school, and he has confidence in his ability to destroy the Spanish fleet.

In the police court, "Sweety" Gill was fined $10 for breach of the peace, and Dan Adams was fined $5 for the same offense. Both parties are colored.

We believe, over here, that the Spanish fleet has sailed for the Philippines and intend to hold them and abandon Cuba, knowing that they can not hold both.

W. E. Broadus has been appointed a prison guard and is on duty at Frankfort. Capt. Letcher Owsley has been sick for a few days, but will soon be able to be in his office, looking after the county's interests.

A. H. Bastin, of Crab Orchard, was here Wednesday. He says that for a reasonable sum or a given number of subscribers, he will put in a telephone exchange here and furnish London, Mt. Vernon, Livingston, Brodhead, Crab Orchard, Stanford and Danville.

Judge Burpside has enlisted 14 more volunteers, who will leave for Lexington on Friday morning, to take the place of any men who may be rejected in the examination of Capt. Duncan's company. Several of them are from adjoining counties and he may be able to send 20.

Messrs. J. I. Hamilton and J. E. Robinson are in Adair and Taylor counties buying horses for artillery purposes. R. H. Tomlinson attended court at Harrodsburg this week. Messrs. S. D. and J. M. Rothwell are repairing the Dripping Springs property, and it will be run to its full capacity this season.

Miss Ellene Hyatt, daughter of William Hyatt, of Hyattsville, won the gold medal in the Demorest contest, held at Walnutta church. Five young ladies competed for the prize. Miss Hyatt's subject was: "The Bridal Wine Cup". Miss Frances Spratt, it is said, would have been entitled to the second prize, if one had been awarded.

Judge Burns allowed $107 for providing for and sending two children named Daley, aged two and four years, to the Orphan's Home at Louisville. Their mothers had been living with them in an old, dilapidated house, in the country, in a state of perfect destitution. The four were brought to town on a cold day some time ago, when even the women were bare-footed.

Our new train service will begin Sunday night, when a train, over our road, will make connection with the night trains at Stanford, and return to Cincinnati. By this arrangement our citizens can go and spend the day in Louisville or Cincinnati, returning home at night. It is said that our day train will be reversed on Monday so as to connect with the trains at Stanford, which will be a great convenience to the traveling public. This train, however, will not run on Sunday.

We are as much at sea as the Spanish fleet is, as we are unable to locate it. The wild and conflicting reports sent out are of such a character as to cause the people to discredit any report that is circulated. It has been reported here that the Lancaster company would go at once to Chickamauga, and also that it would go direct to Tampa. On Wednesday, Capt. Duncan telegraphed for 10 or 20 more men. It is not known whether they are wanted to take the place of men, who have been rejected, or whether the number, necessary to form a company, has been increased.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Hon. G. G. Gilbert will speak at Perryville to-morrow afternoon.

John D. White is out for Congress in the 11th, but Judge Vincent Boreing seems to have made his calling an election sure.

Judge W. S. Pryor, of Frankfort; Chas. Poynts, of Maysville, and W. T. Ellis, of Owensboro, took the oath of office as Election Commissioners in the office of the clerk of the Court of Appeals. The work of appointing County Commissioners will be done with the advice of the Democratic organization.

James Dawson, of Elgin, Ill., aged 28 years, desired to accompany the volunteers to the war. His widowed mother's entreaties prevailed, and he merely went to the depot to see his friends leave. He was crowded from the platform, run over by the train and killed.

When Sallie Rogers was up in Louisville for killing Houston Hutchison, she said: "I aimed the revolver at Jackson Jones, my sweetheart. I must have been nervous, for the bullet killed Hutchison." On her way back to jail she said: "The joke is on me. I'm a bad shot."

Mr. Herman Schuter, of Casey, and Miss Millie Geiszl, of Crab Orchard, were married at her home on the 10th.

Frank Harvey, of LaPorte, Ind., has brought suit for divorce because his wife draws his salary and won't give him even pin money.

Joseph Simcox, Gov. Bradley's stenographer, and Miss Josephine Sullivan, of Lexington, eloped to Lawrenceburg and were married.

The Cleveland Rubber Works has received a rush order from the government to furnish 15,000 ponchos for the volunteer army. They are light rubber blankets, 72x45 inches, and are adapted to three uses. They can be used as blankets, as capes, or four of them may be laced together and made into a tent. It is thought that fully 200 of the two regiments at Lexington will be rejected.

Our townsman, William Miller, who is somewhat of a wag, says he has always regarded the Spaniards as mighty good people, from the fact that when he was a boy, his father raised a kind of sweet potato he called the Spanish and that it was a powerful good potato.

W. T. Coulter says we did him an injustice in our last. He says he was already captain of a company of home guards and since the publication in the INTERIOR JOURNAL that his company has disbanded and he is having trouble in getting it together again. T. S. B.

A soldier by instinct and training, a poet who lisp'd in numbers because the numbers came, he was the truest of friends, the most fearless and generous of foes, one of the most admirable and lovable of men. Peace to thy ashes, perpetuity to thy fame! thou sweetest of our singers, thou better part of at least one of the many who loved thee living, mourn thee dead."

When you can not sleep for coughing take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It always gives prompt relief. It is most excellent for colds, too, as it aids expectation, relieves the lungs and prevents any tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Stanford, Ky.

STANFORD, KY., - MAY 13, 1898

W. P. WALTON.

We are authorized to announce

HON. JAS. B. MCCREARY
Of Madison County, a candidate for Congress in the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the democratic party.

HON. G. G. GILBERT,
Of Madison County, a candidate for Congress in the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the democratic party.

HON. J. B. THOMPSON,
Of Mercer, is a candidate for re-nomination for Congress in the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the democratic party.

SIX PAGES.

OUR dispatches received last evening tell of a small, but terrific, naval battle off Cardenas, Cuba, in which the Spanish sent a shot through the torpedo boat Winslow's boiler and bursted a shell on her deck, killing five of our sailors and wounding a number of others. They also tell of the bombardment of San Juan by Sampson, the sinking of another Spanish boat in Philippine waters and give other late news. Yesterday's papers told of the order to send 16,000 regulars to Cuba Monday, to be followed by 45,000 volunteers. Twenty-five transports that can carry 20,000 a trip are now at Tampa. There have already been mustered into the Federal service 56,000 and by the end of the week 100,000 volunteers will have been accepted.

The report was sent out Tuesday that the Cape Verde fleet had returned to Cadiz, Spain, but the navy department is not so sure of it and is endeavoring to find out the truth. Sampson was notified of the report, but he will be on the lookout, all the same, for it.

The people of Spain are in a desperate condition. Riots are rife, the people refuse to contribute to the expense of the war and a ministerial crisis is imminent. Everything so far seems to be going our way and foreshadowing the early doom of the Spanish government.

Now seems to be emphatically the time to strike them fore and aft. We have them on the run and can make the war as short as it will be decisive.

THE speeches of Gov. McCreary and Hon. G. G. Gilbert at Shelbyville Monday were in the best of taste and nothing whatever of an unpleasant nature occurred. The governor spoke first and was cordially received. Mr. Gilbert followed and it being his first public appearance in his home county since his announcement for Congress, he was greeted with an ovation, which showed that his homefolks appreciate him. He made some good natured tilts at the governor, but the latter evened up things in his 15 minute rejoinder and both created much laughter and enthusiasm. The governor invited his opponent to speak in his town and they will shortly lock horns there. Mr. Thompson was unavoidably absent and the Shelby people will have to wait to hear him until the next round.

THE infamous republican Congress put an almost prohibitive tariff on printing paper, which enabled a thieving trust to form a combine to force up the price. It has already sent it up a cent or more a pound since last December and the price is still climbing. Fortunately for us we bought a number of tons before the rise, but they are now exhausted and another supply has caught us for the extra cent a pound, which goes into the pockets of a few men, who profit by republican legislation for the classes against the masses.

COMPLAINT was made in the Senate Tuesday by Senator Lindsay and others that the list of nominations for staff officers contained no Southern men and Western Senators said that their section had also been neglected. Sectional lines and sectional feelings seemed to have been obliterated except in the heart of the man, who is proving that in one case at least, men do not always rise to the requirements of their positions.

THE Commercial Convention at Louisville was not as largely attended as expected, but it was a success in most every particular. Hon. P. W. Hardin responded to the welcoming address and John W. Yerkes was made permanent chairman. The sessions were to close last night with a royal banquet.

A CIGARETTE smoking dude isn't fit for anything on earth and very little in hell. Those who have screwed their courage up and enlisted in the army are being rejected by the surgeons right along, fully 90 per cent. being pronounced unfit for duty. The other rejections are comparatively small.

THE Richmond Climax sung the only discordant note in the Commercial Convention matter. The paper could see no good in it except for Louisville and said so in many and quite amusing paragraphs.

If this thing keeps up ours will be an army only of officers, such as those of the gold forces were described in the late campaign. A recent order gives each regiment three majors, and each major an adjutant, all commissioned officers. When it is remembered that a major is the most useless officer in the army, the absurdity of the order will be appreciated.

WAR NEWS.

FIVE AMERICANS KILLED,
SHORT BUT TERRIFIC NAVAL ENGAGEMENT.

NINE AMERICAN SHIPS BOMBARDING
SAN JUAN.

U. S. GUNBOAT CONCORD SINKS A SPAN-
IARD AFTER TWO HOURS BATTLE.

FIVE KILLED AND SEVERAL WOUNDED
IN AN ENGAGEMENT OFF CARDENAS.

DEWEY STILL MASTER OF THE SITU-ATION AT MANILA.

KEY WEST, May 12.—In an engagement off Cardenas, the first Americans were killed by the enemy. Ensign W. Bagely and four men of torpedo boat, Winslow, are dead and several, including the captain, wounded. The Wilmington, Hudson and Winslow were engaged.

KEY WEST, May 12.—Fight was terrific while it lasted. American ships went after the Spanish gunboats, who opened fire first and concentrating on Winslow sent a solid shot into her boiler. As the men stood on deck waiting for relief a shell exploded, killing five and wounding a number. Spanish loss not known. The land batteries helped the Spanish.

HONG KONG, May 12.—A merchant vessel reports that United States gunboat Concord sunk a Spaniard after two hours' battle. No Americans were killed.

NEW YORK, May 12.—A dispatch from Port De France, Martinique, says nine American warships are now bombarding San Juan, Porto Rico.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Twelve thousand troops are to be sent to the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, May 12, 4 P. M.—Dewey has cable working. The Navy Department received a dispatch this afternoon, saying that he controls situation and is transferring to transports guns from sinking Spaniard ships.

A dispatch from Gibraltar says that a Spanish torpedo boat exploded in Algeiras Bay and all on board were lost. Congressman D. G. Colson is really in earnest about going to war and has been commissioned major in the third regiment.

Gomez says that with the proper weapons, the Cubans can drive the Spanish from the island, without the aid of the Americans.

By cable from Hong Kong to Washington is 20,000 miles, the commercial rate is $1.72 per word and the time of transmission six hours.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee has asked the President to appoint Russell Harrison to the place on his staff of Lieutenant Colonel and Commissary.

The government gives $100 for each man killed in naval battles and this will give Admiral Dewey $9,000, his officers good sums and the men $50 a piece.

The government has refused O. H. P. Belmont's offer to build and equip a dynamite gunboat because of the stipulation in his offer that he must command it.

Spain will send 8,000 soldiers and two battalions of marines to Manila, but as it will take 40 days to get them there, Dewey will long since have had every thing his own way.

With the 70,000 rifles and the 200,000 rounds of ammunition which have started from Port Tampa, Gomez will be able to make a start toward the expulsion of the Spaniards.

The consensus of opinion is that we can hold the Philippine Islands against the claims of the world and it is suggested that a force of 20,000 Negroes be sent there to garrison them.

It is claimed that no material aid can be given the insurgents in Cuba until at least three bases of supplies are occupied, and then it would require weeks to mobilize the insurgent forces.

Information has reached Key West of the landing within 50 miles of Havana of the expedition under command of Captain Dorst, Fourth Cavalry, which left Tampa on board the transport Gussie.

Secretary Alger wants the President to issue another call for 75,000 volunteers. He thinks there should be an army of fresh troops to fall back on, if it should be necessary after invading Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

Gen. Nunez represents that the total enlisted strength in all arms of the Cuban army is 25,000 men, exclusive of several independent bands, which have never come into the regular army organization.

The cruiser Charleston, loaded with ammunition for Admiral Dewey's squadron, will start at once for Manila, without waiting for the transports and other supply ships. The City of Pekin, with troops, will start probably about Saturday. Additional Western volunteers have been ordered to San Francisco, including those in the States of Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Idaho and Montana.

The war department has notified Gov. Bradley that equipments for Kentucky troops were sent from Philadelphia May 6. These supplies have not arrived and there is much complaint in consequence.

Anarchy and famine at home continue to menace Spain. An incendiary fire destroyed nearly half of the grain stores in Madrid and the cortes is being urged to adopt extreme measures to prevent a bread famine.

The big camp of volunteers to be established near Washington will be located at Munson's Hill, across the Potomac, in Fairfax county, Va. It is a historic location, only a short distance back of Arlington Heights.

The deaf and dumb cadets at the State school at Fulton, Mo., the only company of its kind in the world, have offered their services to Gov. Stephens to fight the Spanish. This company is fully equipped and well drilled.

The New York harbor patrol fleet has been greatly enlarged and the mined fields are being closely guarded to prevent the cutting of mine wires by Spanish spies. Several torpedoes and mines have been adrift lately.

In round numbers Sampson's squadron has a displacement of 46,000 tons, and can throw 20,000 pounds of metal at one discharge, while the Spanish Cape Verde squadron has a displacement of 29,000 tons and a discharge of 10,000 pounds.

There was a night call to battle on all the ships at Old Point, and the celerity with which crews responded was quite remarkable. No preparations were made, and the majority of the men were asleep, but the guns were ready to shoot on all the ships in less than six minutes.

This is no joke. The Lexingtoni Leader says: The men in the second and third regiments are all developing colds and sore throats, from sleeping on straw, with not half cover to supply their needs. The men are compelled to sleep six or seven in a stall with a blanket for every six men.

That shot from Olympia which disturbed the Reina Maria Christina was perhaps the most destructive single shot ever fired into a ship. It was an eight inch shell, and it rocked the Spanish ship from stem to stern, exploded her boilers, killed her captain and 60 men, and set her on fire.

Rev. Otto Zimmerman, a Lutheran preacher of Evansville, Ind., refused to admit members of the G. A. R. post to his church because they wore Cuban flags. In his remarks the minister said that the United States had no right to take Cuba. A few moments later he was fleeing out of the back door to save his life.

In 1858, Dewey was an ensign, the lowest commissioned officer of the Navy. Now he is Admiral, the highest. This will keep him upon the active list of the navy until he is 72 years old; it will give him full pay when he retires and a corresponding increase of pension for the benefit of his family after his death.

Senator Sewell, of New Jersey, is not as patriotic as he tried to make out. He has decided to refuse the commission of major general tendered him by the president, after receiving a verbal opinion from Attorney General Griggs that it was unconstitutional to hold a seat in the Senate and a commission in the army at the same time.

The small torpedo boat Winslow precipitated the first naval engagement in Cuban waters Monday, and a lively little battle followed. The Winslow was fired upon and chased by three Spanish coastguard vessels, firing back in return. The Machias took a hand and chased the Spaniards in turn, firing a few shells, the effect of which is not known. Sampson is now the centre of attraction. The generally accepted plan has been for Sampson to meet the Spanish fleet in the neighborhood of Puerto Rico. Another victory for our navy would make the reduction of Havana and San Juan much easier, and would probably obviate any necessity there may now seem to be for landing a large body of soldiers on the island.

The Philippine group of islands off the coast of Asia, which will go down in history as the first conquest made by the American Republic in the war of 1898, was discovered by Magellan in his first voyage around the world, in 1520. There are nearly 1,200 islands in the group. Their total area is estimated at 145,000 square miles, without including many of the smaller groups. Tobacco, hemp, sugar and rice are the chief staples produced. Climate conditions are those of the tropics, sultry, damp and trying weather throughout the year.

Cardenas is situated about 70 miles to the eastward of Havana and is of considerable importance commercially, and has rail connection with Mantanzas and Havana. A second town, called Siguapa, is just west of Cardenas proper, and the two are said to have a population of more than 26,000. These towns are considered very unhealthy for strangers, as they are surrounded by swamps and marshes; but their sanitary condition is said to be fairly good compared with other Cuban towns. The streets are broad and clean, and the city is lighted by gas and some electric lights.

A dispatch from Hong Kong illustrates the proverbial treachery of the Spanish. When Admiral Dewey took Cavite, the priests and sisters of charity bearing crosses and marching in procession, petitioned him not to massacre the sick and wounded, which, of course, he had no intention of doing. The Spaniards thanked him and repaid him by informing him of a narrow channel which, they said, was not mined, while the broad channel, they explained, was fully mined. An investigation upon the part of the Americans, however, revealed the contrary to be the case, and the mines were blown up by the sailors of the American fleet.

is the name to remember when buying Sarsaparilla. Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been curing people right along for nearly 50 years. That is why it is acknowledged to be the sovereign Sarsaparilla. It is the original and the standard. The record of the remedy is without a rival,—a record that is written in the blood of thousands, purified by its power.

"I nursed a lady who was suffering from blood poisoning and must have contracted the disease from her; for I had four large sores, or ulcers, break out on my person. I doctored for a long time, both by external application and with various blood medicines; but in spite of all that I could do, the sores would not heal. At last I purchased six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, thinking I would give it a thorough trial. Before the six bottles had been taken, the ulcers were healed, the skin sound and natural, and my health better than it had been for years. I have been well ever since. I had rather have one bottle of Dr. J. C. Ayer's Sarsaparilla than three of any other kind."—Mrs. A. F. TAYLOR, Englewood, N. Dak.

Sea Fighting.

Those who want to get an accurate idea of what modern naval warfare is actually like may gratify their curiosity by reading two papers published at different times in The Century Magazine. The first was printed in August, 1895, and is a description of the famous sea fight at the mouth of the Yala river Sept. 17, 1894, between the Japanese and Chinese fleets. The account was written by Philo N. McGiffin, the gallant American commander of the Chinese warship Chen Yuen, that took such fierce part in the fight. The conceptions of the great guns, surrounded by so much iron and steel, are something fearful at such times. Commander McGiffin's clothes were torn to rags by these concussion. He was wounded in the fight, and at length became blind and lost his reason, and at last died from the effects of that awful encounter. He mentions in his story that one shell from the Chen Yuen struck the Japanese flagship and ignited a quantity of powder on her deck. A fearful explosion followed, which killed 49 officers and men on the Japanese vessel and wounded 50 more.

The second sea fight story is in The Century for April, 1898. It is an account of the awful battle between the Chilean ironclads Blanco Encalada and Cochrane on the one side and the Peruvian turret ship Huascar on the other. It is written by Claude H. Wetmore. Not even the charge of the 600 at Balaklava equals in tragic picturesqueness the story of the fight off the Bolivian coast Oct. 8, 1879. The Cochrane ranged alongside the Huascar on one side, the Blanco Encalada on the other, and from short range poured into her from port and starboard the shells from their deadly long range guns. The Huascar could only struggle till the last man fell, and this she did.

What the fight was like on the Huascar, what it is like in every hot naval contest, is described thus: "The turret rapidly became so crowded with the bodies of the dead that the steam training gear of the iron roundhouse was clogged and useless. As the men struggled to remove the tumbled corpses of their comrades blood became smeared over their chests, and it mingled with the sweat which dripped as they toiled in quarters that resembled a baking charnel house, through which filtered steam and smoke, while a nauseous odor rose from the bodies and the heated guns." The head of the Peruvian commander, Admiral Grau, was struck off by a shell early in the action. His name is held in such esteemed remembrance by his fellow countrymen that, as Wetmore writes:

To this day, at every muster of a Peruvian army division, at every monthly inspection on the ships comprising the fleet, the name of Grau is first to be heard on the roll call. An officer steps forward, lifts his hat, points upward and answers: "Absent, but accounted for. He is with the heroes."

The London Times puts the law of neutrality among nations in a nutshell as follows: "The sale of arms by neutral nations is a lawful commercial adventure, but a neutral state must not allow its ports to be used as if they were part of one of the countries at war. For example, a cruiser could not be allowed to return again and again to British ports to obtain coal and stores so as to ally forth to prey on the commerce of an enemy." This point of the law of neutrality England learned from a stiff object lesson. She allowed the Confederate cruiser Alabama to "return again and again to her ports to be fitted out with arms, coal and other supplies for the purpose of making war on the ships of the United States." The heavy damages accorded under the Geneva award to be paid by England for these little commercial transactions was to all nations emphatic enlightenment on the duties of neutral nations.

Let no indignities or insults or rudeness be offered to any Spaniard in America. That will be too much like the foolish and childish Spaniards themselves. Treat citizens of Spain in the United States with extreme courtesy. We have no call to treat them in any other way. It is not their fault that the government of Spain rushes on to its own ruin.

Here is the idea that even so intelligent a Spaniard as Don Carlos, president of the throne, has of the United States: "Spain should have made war before this and bombarded New York and the coast of Florida. This would have compelled the United States to surrender quickly." Good gracious! Let Don Carlos try it himself.

We are all sorry for that good lady, Maria Christina, queen regent of Spain, but Cuba must be free. While she and her son lived in luxury thousands of noble Cuban mothers and their sons have starved to death under the rule of her infernal government.

A Philadelphia boy who went off with a crowd of tramps had such an awful time of it that now he is home again safe the sight of a dime novel makes him sick.

It is one of the odd coincidences that Dr. Erasmus Garrett, the chief authority in Chicago on eruptive skin diseases, has himself died of blood poisoning.

United States Confederate veterans—how does that sound? There will be plenty of such military companies in the field in case of war with Spain.

English the Coming Language.

If the number of persons habitually using and writing it are any test of the growing importance and popularity of a language, then English is at the head of all tongues spoken on this globe today. It is the language of practical force, power, push and advancement in material things. French was formerly universally the language of diplomacy, because in French one can say so much and mean nothing at all. English is the language in which the commercial and industrial business of the nations is transacted because English says just what it means. Even in the Spanish-American republics the foreign mails contain more letters addressed in the modern Anglo-Saxon than in any other tongue.

Civilized languages, those written, spoken and printed at the present day, number altogether 12. They are used by half a billion people. Of these fully one-quarter speak English as their native tongue. These are, however, less than half of the number who habitually employ it to communicate with their fellow men. Two-thirds of all the world's letters are written and addressed in English. It is the people of the English speaking countries who write the letters and do the business of the world. All the Spanish-American republics put together, those of Central and South America and Mexico included, send in a year fewer letters than the colonies of faraway Australia do.

We only mention these little facts by way of reminding the American people, especially those who wish to write for newspapers, of the weight of responsibility that rests on them in the matter of learning how to use this glorious English language correctly.

Strength of Woman.

Charles Reade went so far as to declare that women were physically stronger than men in some of their muscles, especially those of the back and loins, if they would only train and use their bodies. The exploits of Charmion, a young French girl now giving acrobatic performances in this country, go far to prove that women may certainly be as strong as most men if they will undergo athletic training. Charmion is a girl only 19 years old, weighing 117 pounds. Lately in a test she compared her actual strength with that of the most powerful men of the time. They were Sandow, the professional athlete; Lovering, the former college champion strong man, and Godfrey, the strongest man among Bowdoin students. All these are men of mature age and fully matured powers. A trial of strength of lungs, legs, back and arms was made. The girl, without any previous special training, proved herself to have greater lung power than Godfrey, while she was 9 points behind Lovering and only 33 points behind the great Sandow himself. Again this mere girl, who had never prided herself especially on mere dead strength, showed that she had nearly half as much leg and back power as Sandow.

Of the athletic training of women in general Charmion says truthfully in the New York Journal, "If women of the present day would pursue physical exercises diligently, the women of successive generations would be models of physical development, not to say beauty."

The London Times is usually considered, not altogether without just ground, as mildly hostile to the United States. These words from a recent editorial in its columns are therefore all the more weighty: "As the American people have been stirred to interference in Cuba by feelings which again and again have prompted serious action in this country (England), so they will carry on the contest in the Anglo-Saxon manner. They will probably make some mistakes, as we almost invariably do, but with them, as with ourselves, mistakes will only increase the dogged tenacity of purpose which knows how to convert mistakes into stepping stones of success." We are fortunate in having the approval of the London Times in our present line of conduct, at least in the estimation of the London Times itself.

In some respects the most remarkable man in the public service of the United States is Senator Justin S. Morrill of Vermont. It has been given to few public men to remain in office, retained there by the voluntary suffrage of their fellow citizens, till they are 88 years old, and to preserve unweakened all their powers of active usefulness. And in what a period of the world's progress it has been Senator Morrill's privilege to live! Hon. J. J. Ingalls in a letter to the New York Journal says with truth: "The span of Senator Morrill's life includes the period of greatest material and intellectual and moral development in the history of manhood. The human race has made more progress in the last 88 years than in the 6,000 that preceded."

The pet name in Spain for the inhabitants of the United States is "Americanos." There is no language so rich in abusive epithets as Spanish, and at present it is taxed to its utmost limits to convey the feelings toward us of those who speak the tongue on its native soil in all its juicy glory.

The Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune speaks of "a face that had seen better days." This is good.

A DOMESTIC COMEDY.

Or How Jones-Brown Discovered He Had Been Sold.

Mr. Jones-Brown (taking his seat at the breakfast table)—Good morning, dear.

Mrs. Jones-Brown—Good morning, Charles. You came in rather late last evening.

Mr. Jones-Brown—Yes, dear. I reached town on a late train from Tipperary's place in Lonesomepark. Glorious place that! Heard about it? Tipperary told me himself. He ought to know. Beautiful lawns, fine gardens—vegetable, fruit and flower—hot and cold water, observatory, bothouse, splendid kitchen, plumbing A1, all modern appliances, electrical fixtures, gas, too, architecturally perfect, view sublime, neighborhood congenial, servant problem solved—they just beg to go there; ten minutes from city—in short, glorious!

Mrs. Jones-Brown—Well, Mrs. Tipperary was in town yesterday afternoon and she isn't so eloquent about it. Do you know, dear, what she tells me? It's lonely as a graveyard, plumbing vile, fruit, flowers and vegetables a myth, scenery in winter all snow, in summer mud; kitchen awful, gas about one-eighth of the time, hot water never above 82 below zero, neighborhood miserable—in fact, they are just waiting until some easy thing comes along, so they can unload it on the unsuspecting idiot.

Mr. Jones-Brown—What!

Mrs. Jones-Brown—Are you ill? Are you ill, dear?

Mr. Jones-Brown—Not exactly. Only—only—

Mrs. Jones-Brown—Only what?

Mr. Jones-Brown—Nothing much—only I bought that place!—New York World.

Wet Weather.

Up town and down town

And through the shopping section,

In door and out of store

In roundabout direction,

Where the rain pours down

With plentitude and pluck,

Goes a little pair of rubbers

That go "shuck, shuck, shuck!"

Mackintosh and umbrella,

Hair that's lost its curl,

Doing shopping, shoes a-sopping,

Goes she bright and early,

Off I pass her plodding on,

Wetting every tuck

With her little sloppy rubbers

That go "shuck, shuck, shuck!"

Just a nod; then she's gone.

Other folk are pressing.

Yet I know, as I go,

I am long confessing

That I wish I knew her well,

That drippy little duck,

With that little pair of rubbers

That go "shuck, shuck, shuck!"

The National Game.

We rejoice to find that the war season has not killed interest in the great American game of baseball. The season opened auspiciously as any year since we can remember. The National League men were never more full of vinegar, neither were audiences more appreciative. The audience themselves were never larger. From 8,000 to 4,000 spectators is by no means an unusual figure even this early in the season and with everybody's mind full of war.

The common mind is so full of war indeed that the epidemic has infected the gallant players and their audiences. Even more vigorously than of old do both audiences and players fall upon their common enemy, the umpire. At New York, where, owing to the cavorting of the yellow journals, the Spanish war talk is hottest, the baseball war thus far has naturally likewise broken out hottest.

Before the season opened we read the little hand book of etiquette for baseballers that had been prepared with the especial view of making them angelic in their behavior. Now, we thought, baseball grounds will witness scenes of Chesterfieldian deportment. The fun of baseball games has vanished, we sighed to ourselves. We need not have sighed. At the very first game played by the New Yorks at their own home this season pandemonium itself broke loose. The crowd and some of the players alike attacked the umpire. They hooted, they hissed, a player shook his fist and swore awfully and stamped upon his own hat in his impotent rage.

The audience roared at the umpire like 5,000 ravening lions. "Lynch him!" cried some. "You're a robber!" yelled others. Finally a happy idea concentrated all the wrath of both players and audience in one word. "You're a Spaniard!" That finished the umpire. In the midst of a hail of cushions and other missiles around his ears that unhappy man escaped under the protection of the police.

Oh, no! The national game is not declining any in interest among us.

It does not appear under the strict construction of the United States constitution that the president has power to call the national guard regiments of the states out to leave the country for service in case of a foreign war. The constitution says, "Congress shall have power to provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions." Congress by law has given the president the right at any time to call out the militia for the purposes specified. Since nothing is said of the right to order them to the front in case the armies of the United States were sent to foreign soil the presumption is that the president has not such authority. There is no doubt, however, in the present instance that it will be the pleasure and glory of the national guard regiments to volunteer to help drive Spain from Cuba. The graceful way of offering these gallant services has already been adopted in several instances by the militia tendering their services to the governor of their own state and he in his turn making offer of the regiments to the president for the war. This mode of procedure recognizes state rights properly and at the same time in the most desirable way acknowledges the paramount sovereignty of the United States.

Certainly the sympathy of all Americans must be with the queen of Spain and her young son in the present terrible situation. She dares not accede to our demand to give up Cuba for fear of revolution at home, and if she fights us, as she is compelled to do, she will be sure to lose both Cuba and her throne. Weyler, butcher in Cuba, traitor at home, is almost certainly known to be plotting with Don Carlos, the pretender, to make him king of Spain. He does this out of a mean and petty motive of revenge for the hurt to his vanity when he was recalled from Cuba.

The volunteer soldiers are called for by the nation through the governor of the state. The United States war department gives notice to the governor that the nation needs so many men from his state for its armies. The governor then accepts the services of that number of men from those who volunteer and holds them in readiness to receive orders from Washington. The respective quotas from the different states vary widely in numbers, from the 6,000 required of New York down to the poor little 40 which are all that will be asked from Nevada.

Captain W. Burkitt of Palestine, Tex., gives the government $20,000 to equip a cavalry regiment to fight Spain and will make it $75,000 if that sum is needed. Long live Captain W. Burkitt of Palestine, Tex.

Of course our government will not authorize privateering in the war with Spain. It is too uncivilized a proceeding for us to countenance. Privateering is as low down as guerrilla warfare.

A decision of the United States supreme court gives a state the right to pass a law forbidding persons convicted of and punished for crime from practicing medicine within its borders.

Do not insult subjects of Spain in the United States. Do not let us so disgrace ourselves.

"Army to the Front."

With profound emotion the American people hear again the stern words whose echo last died away in our country 83 years ago this April, "Army to the front." At this word of command the army of a people whose population numbers 70,000,000 moves forward to make war on a kingdom whose subjects, counting its outlying islands, dependent colonies and all, number only 25,000,000. Our country is rich and prosperous from a generation of peace, Spain is exhausted by the last few drops of her lifeblood by the savage wars she has been waging to suppress her own revolutionist children.

Yet it is not a war of aggression the powerful country declares against the weak one. In that admirable joint resolution which directed President McKinley to send the army and navy to Cuba the statement rang out clear and unmistakable that the United States had no intention or desire toward possessing the island for itself. We seek only the pacification of Cuba, and when that is accomplished the will of the American people, expressed through their congress, is to leave the government and control of the island to those who belong there. Neither is ours a war for revenge. Even the awful crime of the blowing up, at the instigation of Spanish officials, of the Maine in the harbor of Havana while on a friendly visit there, a dastardly act by which 260 brave American citizens were hurled to death, was not considered by our government sufficient reason for making war. "Remember the Maine!" will be the rallying cry of our sea and land soldiers when they meet the enemy, but it is not the cause belling behind the thrilling command, "Army to the front!"

We have set ourselves right in the eyes of the powers of Europe. We have declared we do not want Cuba. We have refrained from taking that just vengeance for the loss of the Maine to obtain which just vengeance no European government would have held back its hand an hour. We prepare to drive the Spaniard from Cuba because his further stay is a "disgrace to Christian civilization and cannot longer be endured."

Our army moves to the front on a crusade in the name of justice and humanity. No holier war was ever undertaken. A dozen millions of loyal Americans are at the command of the president and congress to free Cuba. That done our volunteer army will melt away and rejoin the ranks of the private citizens of a peace loving nation.

The order of the war measure was this: First, congress passed the joint resolution directing President McKinley in the interests of humanity and of civilization to intervene in the Cuban struggle and stop the war, authorizing him to use the army and navy of the United States for this purpose. The resolution was signed by Speaker Reed of the house because the house first passed it. Then it was signed by Vice President Hobart. After that it went to the president, who wrote underneath the other signatures: "Approved April 20, 1898. William McKinley." Next two witnesses signed it. Then the document, called the ultimatum, which the president had already prepared, demanding that Spain should withdraw her forces from Cuba and giving her 60 hours to reply to the demand was inclosed with the congressional resolution and sent at once to the Spanish minister, Senor Luis Polo y Bernabe. When he received it, he sent without delay to the state department asking for his passport to leave this country. It was immediately granted, and he started for Canada, there to remain, as he said, "till Spain whips the United States." Thus diplomatic relations with Spain in the United States ceased. Senor Bernabe will have several days to wait.

So far as the usages of diplomatic etiquette go Spain has saved a hurt to her vanity by being ahead of the United States in breaking off relations between the two nations. When De Lome wrote that insulting letter concerning President McKinley, which it is now plain was merely a shrewd dodge to get out of a bad situation before the worst came, he was able to cable to Madrid his resignation before this government could request his recall. Again, Minister Polo demanded from the state department at Washington his passport before it could be offered to him by McKinley. For the third time again Spain requested Minister Woodford to withdraw from Madrid before he had opportunity to present the United States ultimatum. If there is any satisfaction in these little triumphs, Spain may enjoy it to the full. It is not long she will have satisfaction of any kind.

In the mutations of modern warfare coal has come to be considered as a munition of war and should be so proclaimed by the United States. Without coal the Spanish navy will be utterly paralyzed. It is of utmost importance therefore to see that Spain gets no fuel either in this country or the West Indies. The American who in the present juncture would smuggle coal for use on Spanish warships would sell his soul to the fiend for 10 cents.

In the present case the United States will have the advantage over Spain in being able to adopt the Confederate general, N. B. Forrest's, famous military tactics, "to get the most men that fast."

SUNRISE HUMORISTS.

SAMPLES OF THE JOKES THAT TICKLE JAPANESE.

Their Jest Artistic and Subtle—They Appreciate the Best Wit of America—Story of the Illiterate Dog—Pursuit of Fashion—Smells and Jingles.

The Japanese have a keen sense of humor, and their literature abounds in witty sayings and funny stories. They also appreciate the better class of jokes published in other countries, and many a bright paragraph and laughter provoking dialogue is translated from the American press and reprinted in the native papers. Japanese jokes are artistic, subtle, and to be enjoyed thoroughly must be understood in the original. A foreigner examining the Japanese language and noting its peculiar construction and idioms might think it a rather laborious matter to joke intelligently in that tongue.

For instance, where we ask, "How is your mother?" the polite Japanese would propound a query, which on being literally rendered into English, runs as follows, "Your mother as for honorably well being is?" Where we say, "Please speak louder," he would say in effect, "More big voice by means of deigning to speak condescend," and where we might observe, "We shall have a thunderstorm," his remarks, again literally interpreted, would be to this effect, "Thunder emitting sound storm to appears likely to become being is." And yet the rarest kind of humor and fun are easily and delicately expressed by him.

The story of an illiterate dog is told plaintively by one who was bitten: "You told me that when a dog barked at one he would leave off doing so if one wrote 'tiger' on the palm of one's hand and kept one's fist clinched. Well, I have had a rough time of it for listening to you."

"Indeed, how so?" "A European dog began barking and flying at me as I was coming home late last night. So I stuck my clinched fist out toward him, and just look how I got bitten."

"Oh! Then probably it was a dog who had not yet learned Japanese writing."

In "The Pursuit of Fashion" we obtain a glimpse of the Japanese satirist. Two young men having come across each other in front of a haberdasher's shop, one of them waved his hand hurriedly and cried out:

"I have much to say to you, but as urgent business calls me home at present I must put off the conversation for a few days, when I will come and see you at your house."

The other, astonished at his friend's strange excitement, asked him what this urgent business might be, whether he meant to say, for instance, that any of his family had been taken ill.

"Oh, no," replied the first young man, with a laugh. "I have just been getting at this shop a kind of kerchief which my wife commissioned me to buy for her. The reason why I said I couldn't stop and talk to you now is that it would be an awful thing for her to fall behind the fashion while I was loitering on the way."

The story of the smells and jingles is one that has been enjoyed by many generations of Japanese. It is told as follows:

An old fellow in Yedo named Kichibei kept an eel shop, where he served up eels smoking hot to his customers. Kisaburo, his neighbor, wishing to save money, used to sit and eat his boiled rice next to the eel merchant's door and regale himself with the smell of the broiled eels. The merchant, finding this out, presents a bill for smelling the eels. Kisaburo, not to be outwitted, brings out his cash box and jingles it, saying: "You have charged me for the smell of your eels and I have paid you with the sound of my money. We are now square."—New York Sun.

She Was Costly.

"The man I refused," she said softly, "is now rich, while the man I accepted is poor."

"Of course," replied her dearest friend, "it would be just the same if you had married the other."

The young matron could readily see that this was a reflection upon her, but it was two days before she was able to see in just what way, and even then she wasn't sure of it.—Chicago Post.

NOTE.—Ogdenburg is an extremely handsome stallion with all the form, finish and style of his famous family. With the exception of Mambrino King he is undoubtedly the handsomest son of Mambrino Patchen. He is a sure and very fine breeder and marks his get with great uniformity as regards finish, style, good looks and pure get. He has a good disposition, any one can handle and drive him. He is one of the purest gaited horses in the world and is capable of trotting much faster than his record. He has his speed with him always and is an easy horse to get in condition. He has trotted miles in 2:22 and quarters in 35 seconds. All the training he ever had in his life would not amount to six months. He obtained his record when a four-year-old over a muddy track at New Albany, Ind., blipped to an old fashioned high wheeled sulky against a field of aged horses. He won the race in three straight heats. He is very level-headed, afraid of nothing. He is a show horse as well as a trotter. Has been shown at some of the best fairs in Kentucky and Indiana and has won a number of premiums. Has won a number of sweepstake premiums.

At my place on Saturday, Sept. 3, 1899, I will give $5 in gold for the best colt by him.

Also, I will give a fine 2-year-old black Jack, 15 hands high, will serve a few good mares free. I will also at the same place and day give $2.50 in gold for his best colt.

Bob Tail's dam by Levi Hubble's Prince. Remember Prince was the sire of Joe Blackburn and Brignolia, which Mr. Hubble could have sold at one time for $4,000. Joe Blackburn alone brought $1,900 at the sale.

Bob Tail will make the season of 1898 at $5 to insure a living colt.

R. F. POWELL.

Ground Squirrel.

Ground Squirrel is a very fine chestnut sorrel colt with with fine mane and tail, which he carries as near perfection as a horse can. He has been very successful in show rings, having been shown 16 times in 1896 and 1897 and won 15 blues and one red. And the only time he was defeated was by Thorntor Star. He has fine high action in all his gaits—rack, trot, walk and canter. This colt is no stand-still, halter-slower horse, but when you put a saddle on him he is as good as they grow. You can see by his pedigree he is a very fancy and highly bred colt and one that will sire fancy, high-action, high-tailed saddlers, the kind that sell.

He will serve a few mares at my farm, four miles from Danville on Danville & Stanford pike at

$10 to Insure a Living Colt

Eagle Bird is one of the greatest show horses in Kentucky, as his record in 1893 will attest. As a breeder of fine, good colored, high styled colts he is unsurpassed.

Mares from a distance will be furnished grass after May 1st at $1.50 per month and must be paid at the removal of the mares.

Care will be taken to prevent accidents and escapes, but will not be responsible should any occur. Parting with or removal of mares forfeits the insurance.

ARM BROKEN.—While unloading some goods Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Isaac Hamilton, the Rowland merchant, met with an accident that will likely trouble him for years. His horse started and the old gentleman was thrown from the wagon and striking the ground on his right side the arm he fell on was both broken and dislocated at the elbow. Drs. Peyton and Carpenter were summoned and they did what they could to alleviate his sufferings and effect a cure but as he is 65 years old and the bones are badly broken it will be almost a miracle if the member ever gets in good shape again.

ALL REJECTED.—The fiscal court opened 40 or more bids for keeping the turnpikes in repair, but regarding them all too high decided to reject them, modify the specifications in several particulars and advertise again. The bids were based on pretty tough conditions and these were changed so as to provide simply for good pikes, such as the law required in order to collect toll. The new specifications are given elsewhere. Bids are to be in by May 30th and the court will convene the next day to open them. The bids ran from $25 to $175 per mile, and at those rates the county would be bankrupt before Christmas.

HOME and farm mixed paints. Best in the market. W. B. McRoberts.

AN egg famine has prevailed here for a week, but the former price of 74 cents has not been increased.

OWING to the rain Col. W. F. Sheridan's boat was not christened last Thursday night, but the conditions being favorable some pretty young lady will say to-night "I name thee Queen" and break a bottle of champagne over her brow, in the presence of a number of invited guests.

THE LAST OF ROWLAND.—The train dispatcher's office will be moved from Rowland to Livingston Monday, much to the regret of the legion of friends of Chief W. F. Sheridan and his clever assistants, Messrs. J. A. Mudd, Carl A. Moore, L. M. Westerfield and W. T. Merimee. T. F. Spink will be depot agent at Rowland and Ivon W. Fish, night operator. Ernest Warren will hold down the office here at nights.

COON TALE.—Burdett Powell, of the West End, who by the way has the reputation of being an unusually truthful young man, tells a friend of this paper that he saw a coon—a four-legged one—in a tree near his home with a piece of his tobacco canvas over him for a shelter. Mr. Powell missed the canvas several days previous, and thinking it had been stolen, swore vengeance on thieves in general. He changed his tune though when he saw how cutely the coon had outwitted him and instead of waging war on him he decided to let him keep the canvas and use it to his heart's content.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.—Col. W. F. Sheridan has returned from Louisville, where he went to assist in making the change of schedule on the Knoxville Division of the L. & N., which goes into effect Sunday. The day passenger trains will arrive as now, but Nos. 25 and 26, the night express, are changed.

THE L. & N. will run a special train Sunday to Lexington to give the people a chance to see the soldier boys. It will start from Greensburg at 5:30 A. M., passing here at 8:10, Lancaster 8:35, Richmond 9:25 and arriving at Lexington 10:30. Returning, leaves at 6:30 P. M. Round trip fare from here and Lancaster $1.25.

A STANFORD company of volunteers is being raised by Dr. W. B. Penny, who has been authorized to do so by Col. D. R. Murray, and has already gotten the names of 58 of the best young men of town and county. Col. Murray is a half brother of the gallant Crittenden, who was shot in Cuba by the Spaniards and who when told to turn his back and kneel for the ordeal refused to do so, saying "A Kentuckian kneels only to his God and never turns his back to the foe." Capt. Penny's company is for the second call.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH.—Postmaster J. C. Florence was called to Nelson county Tuesday morning by the death of his half brother, Fonrose Florence, who was found in his stable with an ugly wound in his head. The coroner's jury said that death resulted from heart disease, but the family is under the impression that he was kicked by a horse. He dined with his stepmother and was missing from 1 to 8 o'clock, when he was found after much search. The deceased was about 50 years of age and leaves a wife but no children. This is the second brother that Mr. Florence has lost in two months and much sympathy is felt for him.

THE Danville & Hustonville turnpike, which was recently raided, was leased and freed Tuesday by the fiscal court and thus do the raiders gain another victory. There are 74 miles of the road in this county and two gates. The court agreed, after much dickerings with President Wm. Warren and his attorneys, R. C. Warren and Robert Hardin, to lease the road for $1,000 till Dec. 1, the company to expend not less than $30 and as much as $50 a mile on it if necessary. The county owns about a 1/2 of the road and will get some $250 of the money back. The court has in addition the option of buying the pike for $9,500, should the bond issue carry. The trade seems to be a fair one all around. The Hustonville & Coffey's Mill, 5 miles, is now the only toll road in the county.

Rev. H. Ford, of Lexington, will preach at the church at Sautley Sunday morning at 11 and at the usual hour Sunday night.
